With its bright and engaging illustrations, Roadwork Construction Crew is a fun and educational way to learn about the different stages of road construction. Children will love learning about the different machines used, from bulldozers to dump trucks, and they'll be amazed to see how a new road is built from start to finish.

Roadwork Construction Crew is a great book for preschoolers and kindergarteners who are interested in construction and engineering. It's also a great way to teach children about the importance of infrastructure and how it helps us get around.

Here's a sneak peek inside Roadwork Construction Crew:

*The construction crew is on its way,
To build a new road, come what may.
First, they plan and survey the land,
To make sure the road is safe and grand.*

*Then they clear the trees and brush,
And dig up the dirt, with a mighty rush.
Next, they lay down the gravel and stone,
To make a strong base, all on their own.*

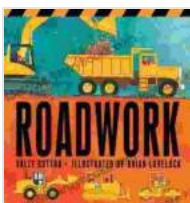

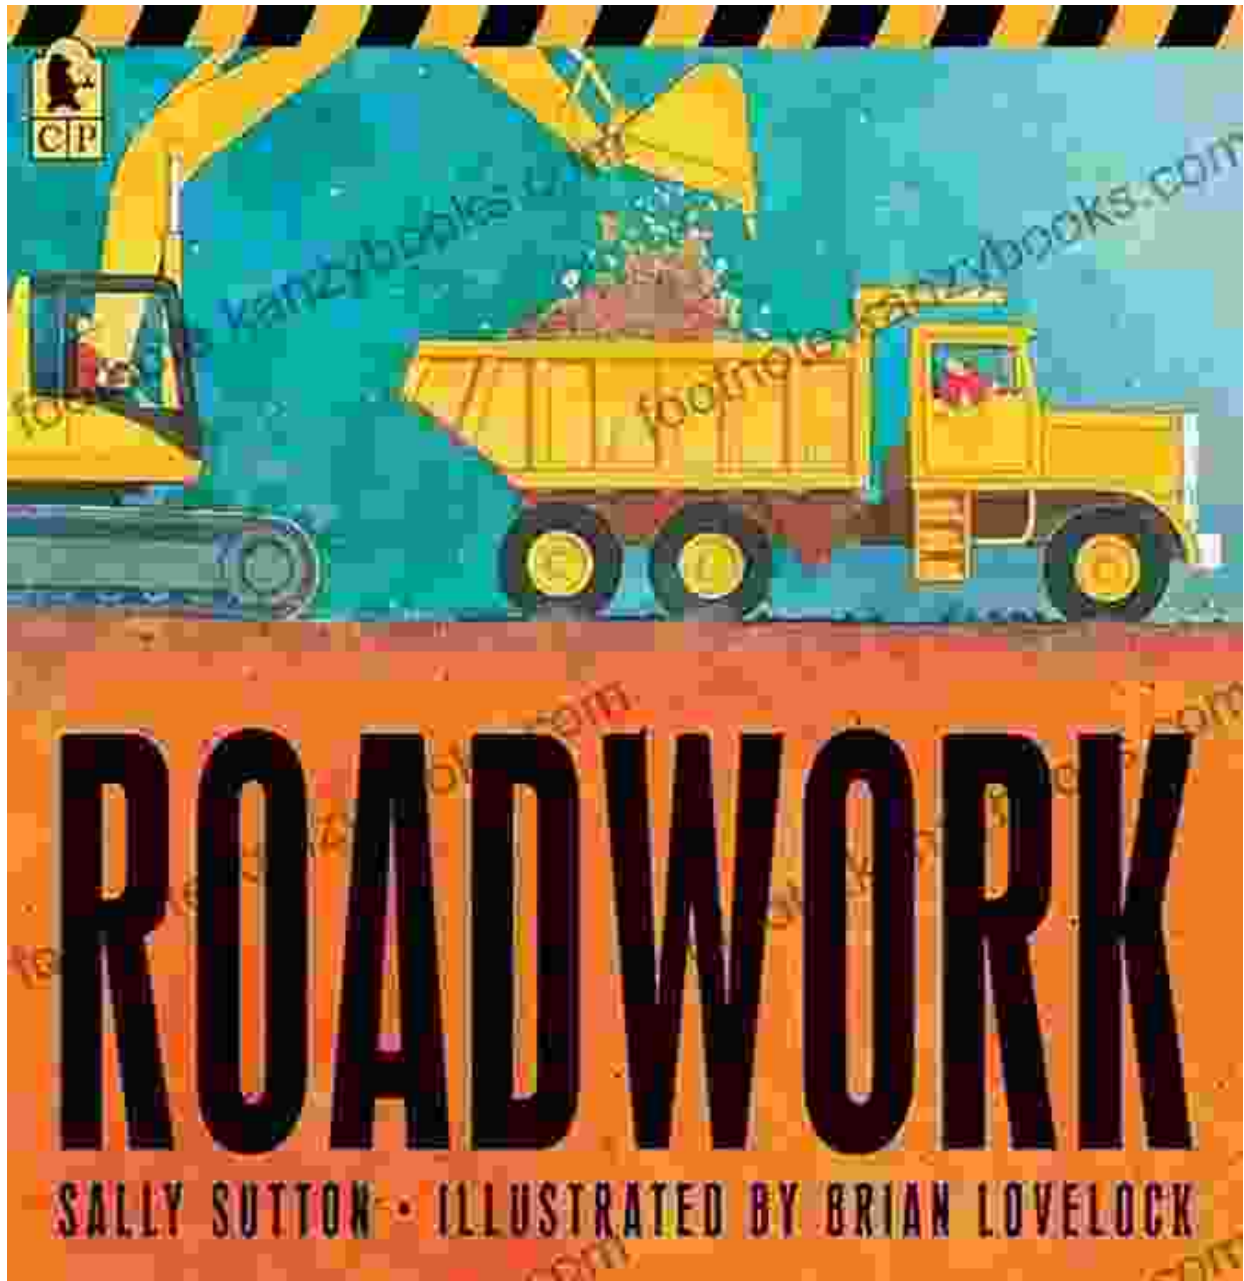

*Now it's time for the asphalt crew,
To pour the hot tar, black and new.
They smooth it out with a giant machine,
To make the road nice and pristine.*

*Finally, they paint the lines and signs,
To make the road safe, for all designs.
Now the road is finished, and it's clear,
Thanks to the construction crew, we're here!*
